

“REALISING OUR GREATER POTENTIAL”

2016 EASTERN ARC CONFERENCE, 11 NOVEMBER 2016, UNIVERSITY OF KENT

9.30 – 10.00	Registration
10.00	Welcoming Address	Professor Dame Julia Goodfellow Vice Chancellor, University of Kent
10.15	Eastern ARC in 2016 : Progress to date and Ambitions for 2017	Professor Philippe de Wilde, Pro Vice Chancellor Research, University of Kent
10.45	Interdisciplinary Collaboration in the Humanities	Dr Liam Jarvis , Lecturer in Drama, University of Essex
11.05	Cross-Institutional Collaboration	Dr Hannah Swift , Eastern ARC Research Fellow, Quantitative Social Sciences
11.25	Collaborating with Industry	Dr Andrew Hemmings , Reader, School of Biological Sciences, University of East Anglia
11.45	COFFEE
12.00	Lessons from Other UK Research Consortia	Dr Nick Goldspink, The N8 Research Partnership
12.20	Iterative Networks : An Agency and Engine for Agile Publishing	Dean Irvine, Agile Humanities and Visiting Fellow Digital Humanities University of Kent
12.40	Facilitated panel discussion / Q&A : The Challenges of Collaboration	Phil Ward + morning speakers
13.25	LUNCH AND POSTER EXHIBITION
14.15	Theme-based discussions (Digital Humanities; Quantitative Social Sciences; Synthetic Biology; Professional Services) <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Reflection on 2016 and ambitions / aspirations for 2017 - Challenges to be addressed - Voting on best poster in the theme
15.30	Plenary Feedback Session and Announcement of Poster Winners
16.00	CLOSE

“Collaboration isn’t about giving up our individuality; it’s about realizing our greater potential”

Joseph Rain